THE RAILWAYS OF CHINA

BRITISH INTERESTS IN STATE-OWNED ENTERPRISES.

WEALTHY PROVINCES WITHOUT A MILE OF RAILROAD.

Eight years ago it was possible to say of the railways of China that they had been showing, since the establishment of the republic in 1911, steady and almost continuous progress. The remarkable statement was then made, on reliable authority, that the annual volume of accounts and statistics of the railways of the Chinese Republic was unsurpassed in the excellence of its general form by that of any railway system in the world. The information it contained, moreover, told of growing traffic and receipts, and an ample revenue that more than covered an adequate return on capital invested. But all this was changed by the prolonged civil wars. After the death of Yuan Shih Kai, the first President of the Republic, there was no one man strong enough to hold together the forces of the nation, and the various war-lords or provincial generals, who held rule successively over separate districts, fought each other so persistently that internal developments of all kinds were quickly brought to a standstill, and transport conditions fell into a state of chaos.

Actually, the first thing that happened when warfare broke out was the seizure of the main railway lines by the nearest and strongest forces. Hence, disruption and destruction were rampant and almost complete, nor did the partial cessation of internal hostilities which preceded the present troubles with Japan enable any great progress to be made in the rehabilitation of these unfortunate undertakings.

FIFTEEN ADMINISTRATIONS

The Chinese Government Railways are divided into fifteen separate administrations, these comprising:—The Peiping-Hankow Railway, Peiping-Mukden Railway, Tientsin-Pukow Railway, Shanghai-Nanking and Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo Railway, Kiao-Tai Railway, Peiping-Suiyuan Railway, Lunghai Railway, Canton-Hankow Railway, Hunan-Hupeh Railway, Chengtai Railway, Canton-Kowloon Railway, Nanchang-Kiukiang Railway and Taokow-Chinghua Railway.

Originally, some 1,598 miles of these railways were virtually under British management, the right of appointment of the principal officers of certain lines being vested in the representatives of the British capital involved, in accordance with the terms of the various loan agreements. In recent years, however, the bulk of these appointments have lapsed into Chinese hands, though certain important posts are still retained by nominees of the British interests concerned. At the present time, British financial interests in the Chinese Government Railways are represented by the British and Chinese Corporation, Limited, of 3, Lombard Street, E.C.3 (Shanghai-Nanking, Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo, Canton-Kowloon, and Peiping-Mukden Railways), and the Pekin Syndicate, Limited, managers and administrators of the Taokow-Chinghua Railway. In Manchuria, there is the Chinese Eastern Railway (the Russian administrative personnel of which was ousted by the Chinese), the Kirin-Changchun Railway, the headquarters of which are at Changchun, and the South Manchuria Railway, the Japanese-owned system which was the cause of much of the friction leading to the present troubles between China and Japan. Actually, China possesses some 3,750 miles of railways, a mileage which is vastly lacking in proportion to the area and population of the country.

SHANGHAI-NANKING RAILWAY.

The Shanghai-Nanking Railway, which has a mileage of approximately 260, of 4-ft. 8½-in. gauge, suffered very badly during the civil wars, and has now sustained further damage owing to bombardment by Japanese warships (the North Station, an exceptionally fine building, was demolished). The preliminary arrangements for the construction of this system were made between the Chinese Government and the British and Chinese Corporation, Limited, in 1903, but, owing to various difficulties, work was not commenced until 1904. In addition to Shanghai and Nanking, the principal stations are Suchow, Wusih, Changchow and Woosung.

PEIPING-MUKDEN RAILWAY.

The Peiping-Mukden Railway (formerly known as the Peking-Mukden Railway) has some 693 miles of line open and about 150 miles under construction. It is of 4-ft. 8½-in. gauge, and was completed in 1906, being built with Chinese

FINE COMEDY AT CENTRAL THEATRE.

A newly rich bachelor. A gold-digging fiancée. An orphan child who dreams this bachelor into an actual daddy, to get out of the clutches of a bootlegging aunt. A threatening society wedding. A starry-eyed nurse.

There you have the ingredients of Universal's comedy. "The Unexpected Father," which opens at the Central Theatre to-day.

Put them all together and into the hands of such players as Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts, Corn Sue Collins, Allison Skipworth, Dorothy Christy, Claud Allister, and you have the most hilarious comedy of the season.

Thornton Freeland directed it at the Universal city from a story by Dale Van Every. Freeland directed the famous "Whoopie" Don't miss it.

"BEAU GESTE" FILM COMING TO QUEEN'S.

STRIKING DESERT DANCE INCIDENT.

When the world was young, long before writing was developed, people wrote with their bodies! This interesting bit of ancient history was revealed by Radio Pictures during the production of "Beau Ideal."

In this thrilling sequel to "Beau Geste," Leni Stengel, portrays "The Angel of Death." She dances for officers of the Foreign Legion... a dance of the body.

In this dance, every posture of Miss Stengel's body is an idea symbol, formed by a combination of gestures with arms, legs, head and torso. Each gesture represents a thought, and the ensemble puts these thoughts together as letters, joined to make words.

"Beau Ideal" with Ralph Forbes in the rôle of John Geste, a part he created in "Beau Geste" opens on Wednesday at the Queen's Theatre. He appears with a notable cast including Loretta Young, Irene Rich, Lester Vail, Don Alvarado, Otto Matison and Paul McAllister.

"GET-RICH-QUICK WALLINGFORD."

LAUGHS AT THE QUEEN'S.

Three of the most amusing characterizations seen on the screen in some time are offered in "New Adventures of Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," which opened yesterday at the Queen's Theatre. The picture, based on the popular George Randolph Chester stories, presents William Haines in the rôle of J. Rufus Wallingford, "master of get-rich-quick schemes, the stage comic, Jimmy 'Schnozzle' Durante, as his chauffeur, and Ernest Torrence as Blackie Daw, fellow conspirator in the fine art of relieving "suckers" of their money.

How these three band together to concoct various fantastic schemes for hoodwinking big business men forms the nucleus for a plot which varies between straight dramatic episodes, riotous humour and romantic interest. Wallingford manages to escape the clutches of the police until he takes an interest in a charming telephone operator. Unwittingly the girl causes him to be trapped by a persistent detective, but all ends happily with Wallingford reforming, and winning the girl. An amusing poker game aboard a transatlantic liner, the ruse by which a crooked clay company is organized, the paradoxical incident of a certified check deal, and the unexpected climax in the railroad coach are among the film's bright spots.

Haines has unquestionably his best rôle since "Alias Jimmy Valentine." Durante may be added to the list of the screen's first comedians and needs but to make the briefest appearance to keep the laughs rolling. Torrence, as usual, proves himself well able to handle hilarious situations, and, as the girl who reforms the wayward hero, the attractive Leila Hyams gives an admirable portrayal.

visited numerous fortune tellers in New York, Los Angeles and other cities, gathering together actual instances exposed by the late Houdini.

"A deviation from spiritualism to the rôle of bakery efficiency manager provides one of the high lights in successive waves of mirth and excitement experienced by Cantor and his troupe.

"Shouts of laughter are bound to trail Eddie's bare feet in their scramble for safety when a heavy of beauties pursue him through a house party, a robbery, a jilting, and an anti-climax in which, despite Eddie's comical and agonized pleadings, he is hailed as a hero and claimed as a mate.

"The first of the gowns designed by the world renowned Mme. Gabrielle Chanel for Samuel Goldwyn's screen stars is seen in "Palmy Days." One of these creations is worn by Barbara Weeks, who was recently signed to a five-year contract by Mr. Goldwyn."

"PALMY DAYS" AT THE KING'S.

WONDERFUL SETS AND CHORUS.

Eddie Cantor's success on his entry into the motion picture firmament, by making "Whoopie," has been eclipsed in "Palmy Days," which will be presented by Samuel Goldwyn at the King's Theatre to-day. Says the trade announcement: "Surrounded by myriads of feminine stars, Pogany settings, an outstanding cast and a story in which Cantor collaborated with Morris Ryskind and David Freedman, the star of "Palmy Days" projects himself from hilarity to uproariousness in a series of ingenious Cantor situations. Edward Sutherland, who rose to his megaphone status after assisting Charlie Chaplin in "A Woman of Paris" and since directing twenty-five comedy successes, has inspired a dash and movement in Cantor's latest endeavor that gathers whirlwind momentum as it approaches its climax.

"More than five thousand" applicants appeared for the "Palmy Days" chorus when production began. Fifty girls were accepted as the most beautiful and the generous ensembles in which they appear give unique enhancement to a story continually through which Cantor plunges goggle-eyed.

Three Olympian Mermaids!

"In a startling swimming polo set designed by Willy Pogany, the chorus engages in applause-provoking frolics led by three Olympian mermaids, each an aquatic champion. They are Olive Hailch, Southern California 100-yard champion; Georgia Coleman, national diving champion, and Dorothy Poynton, runner-up to Miss Coleman. Youthful Barbara Weeks sings, dances and laughs her way through the picture as an accomplice and coadjutor to Cantor and the elongated Charlotte Greenwood. "Palmy Days" boasts the presence of three former musical comedy stars. First, of course, is Eddie Cantor, who ended several years as star of musical shows with the Zigfield production, "Whoopie," Charlotte Greenwood, Cantor's foil, starred in such stage productions as "So Long, Lety," "Linger Longer, Lotte," "The Tik Tak Man of Oz," and the "Ritz Revue." Walter Catlett, completing the trio has been on the stage for several years.

Skit on Fake Mystick.

In "Palmy Days" Cantor uses the bland nonsense of his newest picture as an attack on the practice of spiritualism and fortune telling. Eddie appears as the unwilling assistant to a gang of fake-mysticks, through which is revealed some of the crooked tactics of the craft that annually is said to net the public out of $125,000,000. To get detail and experience and atmosphere for the picture, Eddie (Continued on previous column.)

GOSSIP AND FACT.

Tallulah Says "It is Ridiculous."

Miss Tallulah Bankhead, the actress, describes as "ridiculous" reports in Los Angeles of her impending engagement to Mr. Joel Maeren. She declared:

"I have only met the man once."

"Miss Hook of Holland."

"Miss Hook of Holland," one of the most popular of the old musical comedies, which was recently played by the Philharmonic Society in Hong Kong, was revived at Daly's Theatre on Thursday, March 24, for a short season. It was first produced at the Prince of Wales Theatre in 1907, and played for nearly two years. Jean Colin played Miss Hook, the rôle created originally by Isabel Jay, and Mark Lester played G. P. Huntley's old part of Mr. Hook.

Sir Thomas Beecham.

Sir Thomas Beecham will take part in the annual Munich Festival plays this year from July 18 to August 23. He will conduct three performances of Mozart's "Magic Flute" and one concert of the Academy of Music—the programme of which will include a Haydn Symphony, a work by Frederick Delius, and a work by Richard Strauss.

Death of George Lupino.

Mr. George Lupino, the oldest member of the famous theatrical family, father of Stanley and Barry Lupino and uncle of Lupino Lane and Wallace Lupino, has died at the age of 82.

He was born at the Spread Eagle Music Hall, Birmingham, and his first appearance on the stage was as a baby in arms, carried by his mother. He was a comedian for 73 years. He had played Shakespearean parts, clown in circuses, and had danced and taken comic parts in variety shows in nearly every town in Britain. His last appearance was that of a clown. He once said: "There are older artists than myself who have worked for a long time, but not one of them can boast of the same length of continuous stage experience."

Chaliapin's First Talkie.

Chaliapin's first talkie, "Don Quixote," will be made at Ealing, with exteriors in the South of France, or in Northern Spain. "Don Quixote," which is to be filmed in English and French, will cost £20,000 to produce. An unusual routine of production will be followed in order to fit in with Chaliapin's operative engagements. The exteriors will be filmed first. Then work on the film will be postponed while Chaliapin fulfils his engagements at the Paris opera. In the middle of June he will come to England and interiors will be shot at the Ealing studios of Associated Radio Pictures, of which Basil Dean is chairman. The film is to be completed, by the end of August, and is a direct adaptation from the Cervantes novel. Paul Morand, the distinguished French writer, has already finished the French version of the script, and John Farrow is preparing the English version. Mr. Farrow is an Australian who has written the scripts of many notable American films, and is now advising Basil Dean on story production at Ealing.

Tabloid Views from U.S.

Jeffrey Bernard, a director of the General Theatres Corporation is just back in England from a visit to America where he has been talking to New York's film kings. He says:

"America wants British films with plain English and no dialect. Lubitsch has been offered 200,000 dollars to make two pictures for an American company—and has refused."

"Marlene Dietrich in 'Shanghai Express' is the rage of New York. Talkie stars are being sought for variety."

"Famous stars now engaged on short-term contracts. 'Michael and Mary' a big success in New York."

"Sunshine Susie" causing a broad smile on the face of Boston.

What London Likes.

Films to note at West End cinemas are as follows, says a copy to hand of the Evening Standard. "Delicious," at the Tivoli, with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. "The Guilty Generation," a very well acted gangster film at the New Victoria together with "Law and Order," a Western, with Walter Huston in the lead—and no women. "Sunshine Susie," with Renate Muller, Jack Huibert and Owen Nares is at the Astoria on Sunday. "War is Hell," a German picture, "Forbidden," and "A Night Like This," with Tom Walls and Ralph Lynn.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 10.

The Golden Text was—"He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death." (Psalm 68:20).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:—"And it came to pass, as Peter passed throughout all quarters, he came down also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda. And there he found a certain man named Aeneas, which had kept his bed eight years, and was sick of the palsy. And Peter said unto him, Aeneas, Jesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise, and make thy bed. And he arose immediately." (Acts 9:32-34).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:—"The Christian Scientist has enlisted to lesson evil, disease, and death; and he will overcome them by understanding their non-existence, and the allness of God, or good." (p. 450).

SITTING BULL STILL GOING STRONG.

RUNS MILE AND A HALF IN STARTLING TIME
OF 3 MINUTES 2.3 SECONDS.

SEASON TICKET GOES UNDER TO WOODLAND STAG.

[By "MORNING DEW"]

Saturday's racing at Happy Valley was productive of more thrills than any race day this season, none the least of which was the encounter between the two rivals, Season Ticket and Woodland Stag. The latter won this time and a description of the race will be found below.

Times were once again on the fast side, a notable feature of the day's racing being Sitting Bull's time of 3 minutes 2.3 seconds for the mile and a half.

There were several upsets during the day, accompanied by the usual big dividends. In the eighth race, Lucky Bird ousted two big favourites in Highjinks and Pocahontas to pay $197 for a win, but a protest against the pony was entered after the race and it was disqualified for bumping and boring.

Mr. L. Frost had a most successful day, getting five wins and two places out of nine outings. Mr. S. N. Pan had a couple of wins, two second places as well as two thirds. One of his winning mounts, Lucky Bird, was subsequently disqualified. Messrs. Corbett, Noronha and Botelho had a win each, while Mr. Ip Kui Ying had no fewer than four seconds and a third.

TIANA PAYS BIG DIVIDEND IN "B" CLASS.

THE RACING.

There were seven starters in the opening race of the day but Season Ticket and Woodland Stag practically monopolised the betting. Woodland Stag shot in front at the start and Season Ticket had all his work cut out to try and draw level. Mr. Frost sent his mount all out all the way and that settled all chances Season Ticket had for a win, for in trying to chase the leader Season Ticket found the task very difficult and could not make any show on Woodland Stag in the straight, although it must be said for the loser that he was exceedingly "game" and responded time after time to Mr. Reidy's asking. Woodland Stag won by a length and a half and Polar Star, which was badly left at the start, finished third, four lengths behind Season Ticket.

Outsider Comes In.

There were seventeen starters in the second race which fell to an outsider. For some reason the public made Tontine, with S. Y. Liang on the saddle, a big favourite, but the pony ran indifferently and was unplaced, finished sixth or seventh. Little Beaver and Chateau Bay made all the running, but Nippy caught up with them at the head of the straight and looked like winning, when Tiana, ridden by Mr. Corbett, came through from the back with a big burst to snatch first place. Chateau Bay gave Nippy a good race, but lost by a short head in the race for second place.

Philanderer Wins.

Mr. Frost scored his second win on Philanderer and had little difficulty in winning. The pony was well placed all the way and led into the straight, and although he could not draw away to win as he liked, he held off all challengers and won eventually by two lengths from Siwash and Gold Bar, both finishing strongly.

Amoy Sacrificed.

"Nobody can be more disappointed over Amoy's defeat than Mr. Ip Kui Ying, his jockey. The pony went under to Helvellyn by a neck, but should have won comfortably had Mr. Ip not held him in over the first part of the race in order to stay with the field rather than run away. Had Amoy been sent to the front early on, Helvellyn would have had to go all out to try and catch him up before entering the straight. Instead, Mr. Ip, to make certain of the race, chose to stay behind Helvellyn and make a race of it in the straight. Mr. Botelho, on Helvellyn, however, set a fairly slow pace and sent his mount all out in the straight and because Helvellyn was leading by two lengths when entering the straight, this made all the difference to the result. Amoy, ridden by Mr. Frost, owing to the slow pace, was well up at the finish, and had there been anything like a gap between Helvellyn and Amoy when the two were wrestling for the lead, Mr. Frost on Amoy might have got through and upset both ponies chances.

A Bad Start.

There were thirteen starters in the "B" Class race for Australians and the field was sent off to a very bad start. But after that, the favourite, was sent out to take the lead early on and stayed in front all the way, although he was very hard pressed in the straight.

by both The Rainbow and Lucy Glitters. The latter, ridden by Mr. Butler, made up a good deal on the leader, although he did not get well away at the start.

Some Going!

Before trying to describe Sitting Bull's victory, it might be as well to give the official time over the various quarters of the mile and a half race which he won. The first quarter was won in 31 seconds, the first half mile was completed in 59.3 seconds and the first three quarters in 1.31. The mile was completed in 2.02.1, the mile and a quarter in 2.33.4 and the full distance in 3.02.3, giving a last quarter of 28.4. Had Diana Bay been in the race, it is quite likely that he would have been beaten.

Fortune Bay and Gold Key set the pace early on with Sitting Bull, Bag and Baggage and Sadko staying some lengths behind and King's Justice following immediately behind. Pure Music and Silver Arrow, the other starters, were well out of the race before half way. After the first mile, Fortune Bay was out of the race, sliding back perceptibly. Gold Key kept in front, although his lead was at this time only two lengths. Bag and Baggage, Sadko and Sitting Bull stayed together in second position at the Rock, where King's Justice made a great effort and showed in front of them at the head of the straight, but was still behind Gold Key. Mr. Pan put all he knew into the game when he found himself leading in the straight and the pony responded beautifully, but his last quarter of about 30 seconds was no match for Sitting Bull's great effort of 28.4 and he had to be content with second place. Bag and Baggage just nosed out Sadko for third place.

Mr. Frost Wins Again.

The fifth and last victory for Mr. Frost came in the next race when he rode The Lion to victory. Confident of success, Mr. Frost took a position in front with his mount, but the rest of the field did not allow him to run away. At the Rock the field was well bunched with The Lion on the rails. There were six or seven ponies in line with the favourite at the head of the straight, but, having the rails, Mr. Frost made full use of the advantage to win by a length. Mr. Harman on Gold Ring finished second and Tommy was third.

In the eighth race, Highjinks and Pocahontas, ridden by Messrs. Frost and Ip, respectively, were the favourites, but Highjinks never came into the picture. Lucky Bird, after receiving a nasty bump at the start, went on to win the race, although at one time he was hard pressed by Pocahontas. The winner was subsequently disqualified for bumping and boring in the straight and the race was awarded to Pocahontas.

Novice's Race.

Mr. Noronha, on King's Counsel led all the way home in the novice race, but Orlando, another well-fancied candidate, could not even get a place, although Mr. Fung chose just the right type of race for his mount. Lobster Bay with Mr. Botelho on the saddle, was obviously not a novice, but he made a show. Imperial Hall got second place and Blue Heaven was third.

Canton Handicap.

Deveron started a big favourite for the last race of the day, but once again, Mr. Ip had to be content with second place. Here too, luck played a big part in the race, for Deveron was leading into the straight, while the ultimate winner was about seventh at the head of the straight. Mr. Ip had the situation well in hand while Mr. Pan on Punch was making a big effort to come through. He got up very successfully up to a point, but found himself heaved in a hundred yards from home. Just at the moment, however, an opening occurred on the rails and seizing the opportunity, Mr. Pan sent Punch into the gap to win comfortably. Deveron was asked for another effort, but could not respond. Wembley Stag was third.

BRITISH INSURANCE COMPANIES.

THE opening days of March this year witnessed the holding of the annual meetings of several important British insurance companies. Although reports of the majority of such annual meetings are not yet to hand, it is possible to gauge from Home newspapers the general position of the British insurance world. The observations of the Chairman naturally do not coincide on all points, but all are agreed that the past year was one of extraordinary anxiety for those concerned with the safe investment of large funds. All have dwelt on the unprecedented degree of depreciation suffered by every class of security, but most have been able to inform their shareholders that despite (or perhaps because of) the general financial crisis there has been heightened appreciation of the value of insurance as a form of safe investment.

Take, for example, the remarks of the chairman of the Prudential Assurance Company. He pointed out that the consideration received last year by the company for annuities granted was £275,180, against £270,352 in 1930, an increase of, roughly, double, while, compared with 1929, the business transacted last year was nearly eight times as large. This class of business is, of course, only a small fraction of the Prudential's huge transactions (last year their divisible surplus amounted to the colossal sum of £10,368,189), but the chairman dwelt on the fact that the increasing popularity of this class of business was due in part to the difficulty of investing money to advantage at the present time, which had drawn the attention of the general public to the opportunity which life annuities afforded—a high yield without anxiety.

It is not only the general public which in these days feels the difficulties of investing without, at least temporary, paper losses. The British insurance companies that, following the general custom, had had a valuation made on the last day of 1931 of their Stock Exchange securities have had to report considerable paper losses. Every group (gilt-edged, foreign bonds, industrial ordinaries and debentures) suffered heavy depreciation during the twelve-months ended December 31 last. Thus the chairman of the Prudential reported a fall of about 9 per cent. in the market-value of the British Government group alone, while the chairman of the National Mutual Life Assurance Society (the well-known writer on economics, Mr. J. M. KEYNES) stated that the combined depreciation and realised loss of the Stock Exchange securities of his company were equal to 15.8 per cent. The paper loss on fixed interest securities amounted to 13.5 per cent. so that if this company had held no ordinary share securities the loss would have been less by a little more than 2 per cent.

It is important to stress the fact that these losses, while quite properly regarded as actual for accountancy purposes, are practically only paper losses. Not only are prices under present abnormal conditions in many instances obviously less than real values, but such a method of valuation ignores the fact that the great majority of such securities held by British insurance companies are definitely redeemable at some future date. Except in case of default, this depreciation in market values, however irksome from the point of view of the establishment of the balance-sheet, has little or no effect on earning capacity.

Before leaving this point, two further observations may be made on it. The first is that it is an almost universal rule of British insurance institutions that there shall be no corresponding write-up of values when securities soar above their purchase price. The second point is that since the balance sheets were established at the end of 1931 a remarkable change has come over the British and other stock-exchanges. Following the reduction of the British Bank Rate by a full point at the end of February there has been a recovery in security values. Certain high class securities of the kind held by insurance companies have risen on the market by a considerable extent and at the time of writing much of the fall of last autumn has been recovered.

Another happy feature of last year was the improvement noted in the fire department. It is commonly supposed that trade depression is associated with heavier fire losses. There was no indication in Great Britain and Ireland for this tendency last year. According to figures compiled by The Times, the total cost of all losses during 1931 is estimated at £7,045,000, a total which compares with £9,010,000 in 1930, and £11,784,000 for 1929. The wet summer of 1931 may not have been an un-mixed evil from the point of view of the fire insurance underwriter.

Other features of 1931 are the progress of the mechanization of accounting, which has now reached a high pitch, effecting considerable economy in expenses, and the establishment in June last of a British Aviation insurance company by a number of leading British insurance companies and Lloyd's underwriters to develop aeronautical insurance throughout the world. The initial capital is only £250,000, but the companies behind this venture are very wealthy, and the experiment will be watched with interest.

Tale of the Day.

"Do you know what the unemployed in New York are doing?" shouted the speaker as he pounded the table.
"Yes," a voice from the rear.
"What?" asked the speaker, taken aback.
"Nothing."

Nudist Bulletin No. 2.

We understand that there is no truth in the rumour that the stripping of the external fittings from the s.s. Benlomond in Kowloon Bay denotes that she has joined the Nudists. It is not denied that she is not in her first youth and that her appearance gives one a pain in the neck, but we have it on good authority that, far from the ignoble end predicted for her by the rumour mongers, she is to be given decent burial at the hands of Chinese shipbreakers.

Broadcasting the Titanic Disaster.

Writing apropos, the suggested broadcasting of the Titanic disaster, a London journalist says there was one dramatic scene on the sinking Titanic that the B.B.C. might broadcast without fear of distressing listeners-in.

It was the scene in the smoke-room of the doomed vessel. Survivors said that their chief impression at the time was one of amused admiration of the truly British phlegm displayed by the bar stewards, who calmly presented passengers with their drink bills and made up their accounts with only a few minutes to go before the ship went down.

Stokers' Stoleam.

One other touch of heroic comedy was provided by the Titanic's stokers.

When the order was given to abandon the engine-room most of these grimy men, instead of attempting to save their lives, made for the bar.

By amazing luck, several of the imperturbable beer-drinkers were discovered hours afterwards clinging to bits of wreckage, and the writer remembers hearing one of these fortunate firemen, quite unmoved by the experience, tell his story at the Titanic inquiry.

A Bankers' Gardeners.

No man will rejoice more over the abolition of the speed limit for motorists than Sir Alexander Kleinwort.

Sir Alexander (who is now in his 74th year and has a magnificent beard) lives in Sussex, and drives every day to Lombard Street in an open car. He likes his chauffeur to cover the distance in an hour and a quarter.

In the past this resulted in some of his chauffeurs having their licences suspended. Not to be daunted, Sir Alexander engaged a new chauffeur and converted his suspended chauffeurs into temporary gardeners.

Jeeves Leaves America.

For some years past the hall-mark of American prosperity has been the possession of an English butler. (Lindbergh has an English butler, cook and nursemaid.)

An American banker who was blessed with a singularly dignified specimen of that race treated him with extraordinary deference. He never returned from a trip to Europe without bringing the butler some little gift which he considered appropriate.

Some years ago he purchased a number of pictures at a Soviet auction in Leningrad. Among them was a typical English Portrait of an Ancestor, identity unknown. The banker solemnly presented it to his butler.

The Tables Turned.

Unfortunately for the Jeevoses, last year's crash obliged many wealthy Americans to dispense with the luxury of an English servant.

Many other Englishmen employed in the United States—trainers, jockeys, golf club attendants, yacht skippers, and bar-stewards (for those rich Americans who keep their own bar)—found themselves without employment.

These facts have some connection with the discovery made that the outward balance of over 15,000 British passengers from England to the United States in 1930 was replaced last year by an inward balance of over 12,000.

An unusual incident occurred on the 11 p.m. Star Ferry from Kowloon on Saturday night. The X-ray set will be delivered in Shanghai through Messrs. Schmidt & Co. for immediate use.

At the Marine Court on Saturday, Teo Po, engineer of the steam launch Wah Hing was charged by Lance-Sergeant Macnamara, of the Water Police, with placing five pounds greater pressure of steam than the conditions of the licence of the launch allowed. Leung Lau Gien, the coxswain of the launch was also a defendant, being charged with causing the valve of the launch to be under the control of the engineer by removing the padlock to the safety valve, fitted by the Government Marine Surveyor. Hearing was adjourned till April 10.

"Next to the fortress," Sir Charles said, "is another building, which probably was their temple. The site has been compared to that of Pompeii, from the fact that the city was only partially destroyed. We know that many houses were three stories high and there is sufficient evidence now available that the city was flourishing when the Egyptians, after the death of Joseph, were oppressing the Israelites."

Friends in Need.

It was a windy night near Colchester, and a passenger on top of a bus handed the conductor a £1 note in payment for a fare. Just at the time the conductor's attention was called elsewhere and when he returned to give the change, it was found the £1 note had blown away.

There was some consternation among the passengers, as it was realized that the conductor would have to make up the loss, out of his own pocket.

A collection was gladly started, each giving what he could afford, and the loss was partly made up. The next morning the conductor received 10 shillings by post from another passenger, so that his shortage was fully covered.

Increase in Building Recorded in Canada.

A marked increase in building construction for the last two months, as compared with December, is shown by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The contracts in February were valued at $14,902,000. This compares with $12,738,000 in January and $11,337,000 in December of last year.

Canada's gold production in 1931, of 2,083,700 ounces, valued at $55,457,000, set a record for this precious metal, being 27 per cent. above the 1930 production.

Only 342 Visas of 14,838 Issued.

Only 3 per cent. of the quota of visas for immigrants were issued in January, the American Department of State reports. Of the maximum number of 14,838, only 342 visas were required. The figures are taken from American Consular offices in 21 foreign countries.

The unusually small number is traced to President Hoover's declaration of September 8, 1930, restricting the influx of aliens in the United States during times of widespread unemployment in that country. The measure was enacted to prevent immigrants becoming public charges.

From the Files.

Looking Back 25 Years.

About half past ten o'clock last night fire was discovered to have broken out in the upper storey of No. 53, Queen's Road West, a substantially built three storey house. The alarm was given and the fire brigade was quickly on the spot. Fortunately there was no difficulty in obtaining an ample supply of water. One of the steann engines was fed from a hydrant at the corner of Bonham Strand, and three were stationed on the Praya. The damage done will probably not much exceed a couple of thousand dollars.—Hong Kong Daily Press, April 11, 1907.

Looking Back 50 Years.

Mr. J. H. Kemp, Deputy Registrar and Appraiser, Supreme Court, has been appointed to act as Official Receiver in Bankruptcy during the absence of Mr. G. H. Wakeman on leave, or until further notice, and Mr. P. Jacks, Assistant Land Officer, has been appointed Land Officer, during the absence of the same gentleman.

By general consent, Sir Matthew Nathan's departure from the Colony is held to warrant a spontaneous expression of the admiration and esteem held for him, and a Committee has been formed to consider in what form the expression shall be presented to him.—Hong Kong Daily Press, April 11, 1932.

AMENDMENT TO LIQUORS ORDINANCE.

VARIATIONS FOR "INTOXICATING."

The Gazette contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Liquors Ordinance, 1931.

The Liquors Ordinance, No. 38 of 1931, like the Ordinance which it replaced, deals with many alcoholic liquors which, though intoxicating, are not usually so described and which are not included in the list of intoxicating liquors given in section 2 (16) of the Ordinance.

This Ordinance therefore substitutes "alcoholic," "duitable," or other suitable expressions for the word "intoxicating" or similar expressions in several sections of the Ordinance where they are considered more appropriate.

GERMAN PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS

DR. BRUENING WINDS UP THE HINDENBURG CAMPAIGN

THE "MIGHTY OLD VETERAN" CAN ONLY
SAVE GERMANY FROM CHAOS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, April 10. If any attack is made in the East Prussia provinces it will be defended to death by the entire German people, declared Dr. Brüning speaking at a monster meeting at Königsberg, when winding up the electoral campaign for Hindenburg. The declaration was enthusiastically cheered, considering the fact that the electorate in East Prussia voted for Hitler in the first ballot.

Dr. Brüning attributed this ingratitude to the saviour of East Prussia from the Russian invasion in 1914 to the recent panic in East Prussia as a result of rumours of an impending invasion. Dr. Brüning, in conclusion, said he expected that East Prussia would tomorrow show its gratitude and Hindenburg is the only President who could save Germany from chaos.

Hindenburg's Return Predicted.
BERLIN, April 8. The latest forecast of the results of the Presidential election on Sunday, is that Hindenburg will poll nineteen million votes, Hitler 12,500,000, Thaelmann (Communist) four million.

The early lethargy of electors is due to the belief that Hindenburg's return is a certainty, but this is being countered by intensive electioneering for Hindenburg by the Republican organisation "Iron Front" and Brüning and other Cabinet Ministers.

A large poll is expected. Nazis also are being active, but the Communists are very quiet in view of the hopelessness of Thaelmann's candidature.

Passionate Oratory.
BERLIN, April 9. In spite of the confident prediction of an overwhelming Hindenburg presidential victory, Germany has been turned up to the usual election-day concert pitch with passionate last-minute oratory putting on the grand finale. Hindenburg has held sixty thousand meetings during the week.

The Nazis are just as active. Hitler has been making lightning-like aeroplane dashes across Germany, everywhere denouncing the present "system."

Hindenburg has issued posters, depicting Hitler as a hangman. These posters have aroused in the ranks of the Nazis the most intense wrath, but threats of the use of the ruthless "mailed fist" for the suppression of disorders indicate that serious election affairs are not likely as nobody, least of all the Nazis, want trouble.

Wooling of Women Electors.
A feature of the campaign has been the eloquent wooing of women electors. The Nazi manifesto told the women that it would champion home life. Their opponents, however, point out that the Nazis always have maintained that the function of women is "to be beautiful and fulfil the biological task assigned them by nature."

A final broadsheet appeal will be made by Dr. Brüning to-night. He will ask Germany to vote for the "Mighty old veteran of war and peace—Hindenburg."

Speculation centres on the reaction of the ex-Crown Prince's intention to vote for Hitler, but it is believed, this has done Hitler more harm than good, as the Republicans are not expected to support the Hohenzollerns.

THE DANUBIAN CONFERENCE

RESULTS NOT ENTIRELY DISCOURAGING

British Press Expresses Regret

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rome, April 8. General regret is expressed in newspapers at the failure of the Four Powers during the London Conference to establish any common point of view among themselves, and their consequent inability to make any useful proposals to Danubian States.

Some hope is, however, extracted from unqualified recognition by all that remedial action in Central and South-Eastern Europe is urgently necessary, and by the manifest determination of the Governments to pursue their attempts to concert it.

The Times referring in this connection to the meeting of representatives of all nations next week at Geneva, says the work of easing international commerce must be continued without respite at Geneva. It considers it lamentable that the Four Powers have not been able to decide by what body or group of countries the problem should next be discussed, or which aspect of the problem is first in point of urgency. It recognises that a projected preferential system for Danubian countries demands sacrifices from all States trading with them and remaining outside it—that sacrifices would be particularly severe in the case of Italy and Germany.

"The Same Old Story."
Construction proposals, says the Times, were made by Germany at the Conference, whereby she announced her readiness to grant a general preference to Austria and preference in respect of agricultural products to Hungary, Jugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria.

Behind the differences looms the shadow of a struggle for influence which covers all European affairs. Commercial and political power have too long gone hand in hand to be dissociated all at once in men's minds, and whether or not Germany is to be included in the proposed Customs project remains a crucial point of controversy. Yet sacrifices by all are necessary if this dangerous period of disruption and misery is to be avoided—immediate sacrifices which, if they are wisely made, will bring relief and ultimate prosperity.

The creation of a wide area of Free Trade remains the goal. But it may perhaps best be reached by short stages. There is no conclusive reason why neighbouring countries should not forthwith negotiate with each other for the lowering of every duty that seems capable of re-adjustment to their mutual advantage.

British Ministers' Disappointed.
Rome, April 8. British Ministers do not disguise their disappointment that the Four Power Conference did not mark a more definite advance in the further measures for assistance of which the Danubian States stand in need, but they do not regard the results as entirely discouraging.

Already their observations resulting from the recent study of the problem, together with the points which have emerged during this week's conversations, are being correlated. They will be supplemented by further detailed information and embodied in the statement of policy to be sent in due course, to the three Powers.

The British Government still believes that the most practical course is for the Danubian States to seek an agreement amongst themselves and for the great Powers to consider together the most appropriate measures of assistance and guidance.

They take the view that if a beginning could be obtained for this group idea, it would speedily develop into a system of mutual help with great benefit to the cause of European restoration. They have nevertheless maintained open minds, and will readily consider any proposal that promises the desired results.

The question of the waiving temporarily by the helping Governments of the most favoured rights treaty clauses is one of the points on which differences occurred and it must be considered in future discussions.

At least one of the Powers represented was unable to give a definite reply to such a proposal but it has not been definitely abandoned.

Scale of Preferences.
The Conference also showed that the complex question of a differentiation in the scale of preferences as between the different classes of goods exchanged among the Danubian States raised issues upon which further examination is necessary. The fact that there was no lack of goodwill or determination to reach a solution has encouraged the Conference delegates to continue their work.

MENINGITIS AT CANTON

EIGHT CASES: EIGHT
DEATHS

"DEATH RAY" VISITS
CITY OF RAMS

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

CANTON, April 10. Meningitis, which has taken such a toll of lives in Macao during the last month or so, is making its appearance in Canton.

During the last few days no less than eight people, five of whom were middle school students less than 20 years old, have succumbed to this dreaded disease.

The first person to contract meningitis here, since the appearance of the epidemic in Macao and elsewhere, was a student of the Chi Hang Middle School. He was a strong athlete. All of a sudden he complained of headache which rapidly developed into a high fever, accompanied by convulsions and vomiting. Despite of timely medical attention, he died in less than 12 hours from the time he contracted the disease.

A couple of days later, four students of another middle school, and three prisoners in the Canton Prison contracted this disease and died in a similar manner as the one above described.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, April 9. "I could order a squadron and blow you to hell," is alleged to be the reply made by the Governor of Newfoundland to a delegation of the Citizens' Committee, who called on him and advised him to secure a warship. He added that he would use his own discretion in the matter.

Premier Squires is temporarily absent from the Capital, which is now quiet, though the political situation is still in a state of flux.

GENEVA, April 10. The Japanese delegation has informed Sir Eric Drummond that on April 7, some sixty Chinese soldiers crossed the Suchow River, north of Chiwangmiao, and fired on Japanese troops near Fuchiapi; while another group of about sixty men joined in the firing.

The Japanese repulsed their assailants.

The Lytton Utterances.

This report must reach Geneva before May 1.

Lord Lytton stated that the Commission would then continue investigations and travel as extensively as possible in Manchuria.

After 5 or 6 weeks they will return to Peiping to collect impressions and check up information. They will then go to Japan and confer with the Japanese Government in regard to material collected. Then find a suitable cool spot, it is not certain whether in China or Japan, where to work out their final report, which it is hoped to send Home in August in time for the Session of the League in September.

The time limit of the Japanese withdrawal has been the main question before the Conference and it is now being suggested that delegates should try to arrange a time limit for the Conference itself.

LINDBERGH PAYS $50,000 RANSOM

But Charles Junr. Is Not

HAS HE BEEN DOUBLE-CROSSED
BY KIDNAPPERS?

"NEW YORK MIRROR" BLAMES
BUNGLING TACTICS BY POLICE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, April 10.

The New York Mirror says that Lindbergh paid the ransom demanded for his baby on April 2, nearby City Island Boat House, at a dramatic meeting with the kidnapers, who examined each bank note for markings. He further followed instructions to fly over Marthas Vineyard and drop a message designating the spot where the baby was deliverable to a yacht at sea.

The first attempt at contact failed as rival gangs of run-runners scared the kidnapers, but the second contact on Tuesday was successful, only to be bungled by intruding police and coastguards.

The official factions' blunder has so harried the kidnapers that it is surmised these bungling tactics are at the bottom of the maddening failure to keep their promise.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]
New York, April 10. Lindbergh has been double-crossed by the kidnapers. He paid the $50,000 but the kidnapers have not communicated with him since.

New York, April 10. Several days will be permitted to elapse to give the kidnapers every opportunity to keep their agreement.

RANSOM DEPOSITED IN A LONDON BANK

New York, April 9. The $250,000 demanded by the kidnapers of the Lindbergh Baby has been deposited in a London bank by Major Schoeffel of the New Jersey State Police, who is now in London, according to the New York American. The paper advances the theory that the baby may be returned by the kidnapers in England, evidently to avoid unfavourable publicity in the United States.

So far no casualties have been reported.

JUDAS STERN EXECUTED

"TERRORISTIC ACT"

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Moscow, April 10. Judas Stern and Sergei Vasiliev were executed to-day.

[A message, dated April 8, stated: My brother was always hostile to the Soviet, declared Karasina when giving evidence against her brother, Judas Stern, who is on trial for his life. He pleaded guilty in the Supreme Court to a "terroristic act" in attempting to kill Twardowski, a councillor at the German Embassy. She added that he stole her revolver after failing to borrow it. Karasina was called to the witness-box by M. Krivenko, the redoubtable Public Prosecutor.]

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Buenos Aires, April 10. John Munro, an Englishman, now owns a considerable slice of Patagonia, the Fiscal Court having decided he is the sole heir to $60,000 and the estates of his brother, Donald, who died 22 years ago.

The Argentine Department of Education had taken possession of the land, but the Fiscal Court has now ruled that Munro is the sole heir to these estates.

IMPORT DUTIES BILL

REPORT OF ADVISORY COMMITTEE NEXT WEEK

(Reuter's Special Service.)

LONDON, April 10. A general tariff on manufactured goods, amounting to 30 per cent. on finished goods and 20 per cent. on unfinished, including iron and steel, is expected to be recommended by the Tariff, Advisory Committee, which is presenting its report to the Chancellor of the Exchequer next week.

As a result of this forecast, iron and steel shares were strong on the Stock Exchange to-day.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rome, April 9.

The first report and list of recommendations by the Import Duties Advisory Committee will probably be made to the Chancellor of the Exchequer early next week.

The Committee was set up under the Import Duties Act and its first duty is to make recommendations of additional import duties above ten per cent. ad valorem imposed by act.

The Committee was also asked to give special attention to goods which are subject to duty of fifty per cent. under the Abnormal Importations Act, which will expire next month.

When the temporary act comes to an end all these goods will automatically become liable to ten per cent. duty, and the question for the Committee to consider is which of them should be called on to bear additional duty as luxury articles, or articles of a kind being produced, or are likely to be produced in the United Kingdom in quantities which are substantial in relation to the United Kingdom's consumption.

Newspapers anticipate next week the recommendations will be for a comparatively low rate of additional duty except in the case of luxury articles, with the intention that the proposals must not be (Continued on previous column.)

ATTEMPT ON DR. LUTHER'S LIFE

OUTRAGE AT BERLIN
RAILWAY STATION

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Berlin, April 10. Two youths, Werner and Kertcher, and Doctor Rosen, from Hamburg, fire a revolver at Doctor Luther on his arrival at the Railway Station with the German Delegation en route to Bale.

All shots missed, except one which slightly injured one of his arms.

His assailants when arrested refused to explain their action.

"PLEASE SIR"

Berlin, April 10. The assailants, who were well-dressed, passed the group of delegates, including Dr. Luther, waiting on the station platform. One of them drew a revolver and fired. The other asked the Station Master to arrest his companion who, smiling ironically, handed the Station Master the revolver saying: "Please sir."

It was soon established that both had acted according to a pre-arranged plan, it is believed, by the extreme Radicals.

The police have established that another man was in the plot, but escaped.

Dr. Luther did not lose his nerve and left for Bale.

Opponents to Inflation Scheme.

His assailants are violent opponents of the Reichsbank's deflation policy.

They raised an action last October against Dr. Luther and the Directors of the Reichsbank for high treason, falsification of entries in jobbing and the bills of exchange to the detriment of Germany's commonwealth, but the Public Prosecutor dropped the indictment.

It is suggested that the attack was intended to draw attention to their case.

Dr. Rosen, who is 36, was born in Buenos Aires and is a writer on economic subjects.

Kertcher, who fired the shots, worked with Rosen.

Both admitted they were former Nazis but had resigned owing to political differences.

INTERNATIONAL MATCH CORPORATION

ALLEGED MISMANAGEMENT Losses Reported to Exceed $250,000,000

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

WILMINGTON, April 10. Allegations of mismanagement, resulting in losses exceeding $250,000,000, are made against the International Match Corporation of which the late Mr. Krueger was president.

A bill of complaint has been filed in the Chancery Court by a shareholder, asking for the appointment of receivers for the Corporation and its associated companies.

changes of views, now to be undertaken by other means, a practical policy may yet be evolved.

As next week's resumed meeting of the Disarmament Conference and the meeting of the League Council at Geneva would prevent an immediate continuance of the present discussion, each of the four Governments have agreed to address to the other three, as soon as possible, a considered statement of its views on the points reserved and on the best mode of further advance.

This decision will at once be put into effect by the British Government. The condition of the Danubian States and particularly of Austria and Hungary, has been the cause of anxiety in London for some months. Practical measures for easing the situation have been under constant examination since January and assistance by means of loans is already forthcoming.

Week End Sport.

END OF SEASON CRICKET.

CHAMPIONS BEAT THE REST IN SENIOR MATCH.

BUT THE JUNIORS GET A TRUNCING.

Indian Recreation Club, winners of the first and second divisions of the cricket league, took on teams from The Rest on Saturday afternoon, and while the senior I.R.C. team emerged with flying colours, their second string were hopelessly beaten by eight wickets.

A feature of the first division was the excellent all-round display of A. K. Madar of the Indian Recreation Club who played a capital innings for 82 not out and then went on to take 3 wickets for 5 runs. A. H. Rumjahn played good cricket for 48; while S. R. Kermani helped with 21. Against some good bowling on the part of the Indians, the Rest could only gather 107 runs, the principal scorers being J. E. Richardson (28) and A. C. Beck and Capt. Burnett who got 20 each, the latter being undefeated.

In the junior match the Indians put up a sorry show in the field and dropped a catch, early in the first innings, was the main reason for their defeat. Before he had put together many runs, Smith was dropped off an easy chance and he went on to celebrate this by making 36 not out. For the I.R.C., F. M. el Arculli (40) and A. R. Abbas (31) were the chief scorers.

KOWLOON C.C. v. H.K.F.C.

LOW SCORING MATCH.

A very cheerful twelve a side match took place at the K.C.C. yesterday when D. McLellan brought a team which, more or less (but rather more than less I am told), represented the Football Club. There were seven of the regular first team, Lawrence and White from the second and D. S. Green, C. J. Tacchi and H. M. McTavish representing Kowloon and Richardson, McLellan, Southern, Holland formed a good nucleus of a team for the H.K.F.C. The wicket was excellent but owing to the humidity the ball was taking a lot of spin and it could not have been called an easy pitch. Thanks to this and to some excellent bowling by McLellan, Holland and Richardson, the K.C.C. wicket came tumbling down rapidly, and when tiffin was taken seven men were out for sixty-six runs. Holland and McLellan had done most of the damage, and the scoring had been very slow! Teddy Fincher joined Green after and the score was taken to eighty-two when Richardson lunged himself at full length in the slips and just got to one of Holland's inside which Teddy had played. Green was not out and played very nicely. If he took the game a bit more seriously he would, I think, be quite a useful bat.

A Bad Start.

Having put their opponents out for only ninety-one runs the Football Club had a fine chance of winning but off the first ball of the innings Lawrence caught a marvellous catch in the slips to put Richardson out. This disaster was followed by another for Howe trod on his wicket in hitting to leg, and McLellan played across a good run from Frank Goodwin. The final straw was when Holland called Southern for a short single in the covers and a brilliant bit of combination between Burnett (I think) who returned the ball just over the bail, and MacKay who flicked them off in a flash had him run out comfortably. After that the wickets fell rapidly and Potter alone, who played a very plucky innings, could do anything even though Lyl put on his less expert bowlers. As a matter of fact dropped catches and a plucky last wicket stand nearly pulled things off as the F.C. only lost by six runs.

An Unlucky Chance.

Potter whose forty-five not out was a gallant effort had an amazing bit of bad luck in the morning as the ball glanced very quickly from Lawrence's glove and split his upper lip. Curiously he grabbed at it and his face with both hands and the ball remained wedged in the crook of his elbow until Richardson removed it and appealed. The crowning insult was that the Umpire gave it not out! Potter had to have a couple of stitches put in and to bat after such an injury was a very game proceeding. That and Goodwin's attempt to balance a high catch on the top of his head were the only unfortunate incidents. It was a nasty damp day at first with a drizzle (as someone said even the catches were mist)—but later it cleared up very nicely and a most enjoyable game resulted.

H.K.C.C. TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

THE FINALS: OPEN SINGLES UNCERTAIN.

FORM THE DECIDING FACTOR.

[BY "SALADIN"]

The Annual Lawn Tennis Tournament of the Hong Kong Cricket Club is scheduled to be concluded to-morrow, when the distribution of prizes will take place. All the seven events have been brought to the concluding stages, so that it is expected that all the finals will have been decided. The greatest interest centres on to-day's Final of the Open Singles Championship of the Colony, while to-morrow's Final of the Open Doubles should also prove a source of tremendous attraction.

The much coveted Open Singles crown is at stake, and to E. C. Fincher and S. A. Rumjahn belong the privilege of settling it. A great deal of speculation prevails as to who will emerge successful, and as both are worked up to concert pitch, a very keen final is expected. Last week's semifinal, matches provide much food for thought. Fincher's consistent form has given his supporters sufficient confidence to look forward to his success. In all probability he will be playing at least as well as he did against Honda last Tuesday, which will make him very difficult to beat. On the other hand Rumjahn's variable form is a source of both hope and fear on the part of his supporters. He played bad enough in the early part of the week to be considered out of the running, but showed such great improvement in the latter part that he put himself very favourably in the running.

As I forecast in these columns at the beginning of the season, therefore, form will prove to be deciding factor. Everything will depend on how the two will shape this afternoon.

A FLOURISHING

(Reuter's Special Service.)

LONDON, April 8.
The British Post Office is still flourishing, notwithstanding the trade slump and the fact that the postal services of many other countries have suffered severely.

The Post-master-General, Sir
Kingsley Wood, in a speech at Manchester, revealed that the net for interest charges, approached £10,000,000, representing a slight reduction of £184,000 as compared with 1930.

The Post Office, he claimed, also had an improving record regarding lost mail bags, only twenty-four of which disappeared last year out of over forty million conveyed by rail

POLAND PREPARING FOR WAR?

SOVIET PRESS' ACCUSATION

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

MOSCOW, April 8.
Sensational accusations of war preparations are levelled against Poland by the Soviet Press.
Commenting on the result of the trial of Stein and Vasiliev, the organ of the Central Council of the Trade Unions states that people arriving from Warsaw with diplomatic passports are organising terrorist activities here. It is also stated that the question of the conversion of Western Ukraine into a bridge for the purpose of gaining access to Soviet Ukraine is being openly discussed, while "demonstrative" visits of the general staffs of Poland and Rumania are occurring, accompanied by feverish war preparations by Fascist Poland.

HOME FOOTBALL RESULTS.

INTERNATIONAL SUCCESS FOR ENGLAND: THREE GOALS SCORED AGAINST SCOTLAND.

ARSENAL AGAIN DEFEATED: LEADERS ADVANCE.

The principal event in Home football during the week-end was the meeting of England and Scotland to decide the international championship. England won by three goals and pleased the many thousands of spectators gathered at Wembley.

English League teams were engaged in their regular fixtures.
Everton, taking the points at Leicester by the only goal scored, strengthened their position for the championship, profiting also by the fact that the Arsenal suffered another reverse. The Wolves, in the Second Division, enhanced their promotion prospects by a splendid victory.

Full results of the week-end games, including a special report of the international game cabled by Reuter, and corrected League tables are appended.

INTERNATIONAL MATCH.
ENGLAND BEAT SCOTLAND
BY THREE GOALS.

Wembley Stadium was packed with 90,000 spectators, including 30,000 Scots, on Saturday, when England defeated Scotland by three goals to nil in the international soccer tournament, thus winning the championship.

Scotland, playing against the wind, were attacked immediately.
Pearson saving from Craig. Waring just missed with a great shot. Morton shot into Pearson's hands when placed in a good position to score.
However, Waring headed into the net after thirty-five minutes play, giving England the lead by one goal at half time.

In the second half O'Dowd and Blenkinsop, by skilful intervention, caused a decline in the constructive ness of the Scottish team. England's second goal came when Barclay shot the ball, which went into the net off Craig, after play had been in progress thirty five minutes. The third goal followed three minutes later when Crooks received a centre from Houghton and nodded it into the net.
Including the above match, the following is the record of the International Tournament between the two teams:—Scotland won 23, England 17, drawn 14, Scotland 110 goals, England 94.

SOVIET PLOTS IN MANCHURIA

ALLEGED DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

HARBIN, April 9.

Thirty terrorists who are reported to have arrived here from Russia recently have been arrested. The arrests have led to the seizure of documents which, according to the police, prove the existence of plots to destroy bridges, workshops, and railway stations should the Soviet authorities be unable to maintain their present status in regard to the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Following the discovery of the dead body of a Russian lineaman who had been shot, 110 lbs. of dynamite were found on the caissons of the bridge spanning the Sungari river near Taolincho. Traffic was suspended until the bridge was re-examined and declared safe. Two Russian suspects have been arrested.

Hongtashotze was occupied early this morning by old Kirmites and it is reported that the Manchukuo forces, who had evacuated the city previously, have now joined forces with the old Kirmites at Shihotzotze.

DR. SHAO HSIN CHU'S PROTEST

DECLARATION OF WAR
WANTED

(Wah Tze Yat Pao)

Dr. Shao Hsin Chu, the veteran Chinese diplomat, who is a member of the Nanking Committee for Foreign Affairs, arrived in this Colony from the North by the President Cleveland and proceeded to Canton by train, yesterday afternoon. In an interview with local Pressmen, he vehemently denounced "Nanking's" blind policy in dealing with Japan in regard to the Shanghai and Manchuria questions. He was of the opinion that China had no hope of getting the Shanghai and Manchuria questions honourably settled by peaceful means, unless she could show that she was capable of sustaining a long-drawn armed struggle against outside invasion.

In reply to a question put by Pressmen, he said that he had done "all he could to make the Nanking Government take a firm stand against Japan and he suggested a formal declaration of war. Unfortunately his idea was rejected by the majority of members of the Foreign Committee.

Finally he said that he would not return to Nanking unless the Nanking Government refused to sign any humiliating agreement with Japan in settlement of the Shanghai Affair.

MAYORESS' PLUCK

DEFIES UNEMPLOYED
DEMONSTRATORS

(Reuter's Special Service.)

WELLINGTON, NEW ZEALAND.

The Mayoress of Dunedin, Mrs. Black, showed a courageous front to unemployed demonstrators who refused to give certain particulars for which she asked before supplying them with food from the relief depot. Applicants threw stones, broke windows and assaulted an elderly woman who complied with the Mayoress' demand. Mrs. Black placed the old lady in a car to drive her home, but the crowd attempted to pull her out. Failing in this attempt they tried to upset the car, but the Mayoress vigorously held her own and managed to proceed later on.

When the unemployed agreed to give the required particulars Mrs. Black pluckily resumed the distribution of rations.

SEIZEDIN TOYS ABOARD ILE DE FRANCE.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

New York, April 8.

A huge haul of contraband narcotics amounting to 24,000 ounces, and valued at a million dollars, was made when packing cases on the French steamer Ile de France were unloaded here.

The drugs were packed and camouflaged as toys.

PIRACY THREAT.

NAVY CO-OPERATE WITH THE POLICE.

It is believed that timely precautions taken by the Police and Naval Authorities with regard to the a.s. Prosper, which left this port on a voyage to Swatow on April 5, resulted in the frustration of plans made to pirate the vessel during the voyage. Consequently upon rumours to the effect that the ship was to be pirated, a thorough search for hidden arms was conducted on the date of sailing, but none were found, and she sailed according to her original programme.

The following message was issued by the naval authorities to the Press on Saturday:

"From information received it was believed that an attempt was to be made to pirate the Norwegian a.s. Prosper on a voyage from Hong Kong to Swatow on the night of April 6."

No Passengers.

The Prosper does not carry passengers and is not therefore fitted with anti-piracy gillies, nor does she carry guards. Her officers, six or seven in number, are all Europeans.

She was expected to leave Swatow on her return to Hong Kong last evening, and should arrive here on Thursday or Friday.

The Prosper is a small ship engaged in the coasting trade, and calls regularly at Hong Kong. She was built in Hong Kong in 1917 by the Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd. and is a steel screw steamer of 232 (1,377 net) tonnage, with two decks and is fitted with wireless. Her dimensions are: Length, 370 ft., breadth 40 ft., and depth 10 ft. She is owned by the Dampsk. Aktieselskab of Norway and is registered at Haugesund. Her European managers are Messrs. H. M. Wrangell and Co., of Haugesund, Norway, and the agents in Hong Kong are Messrs. Lee Hung Hong, of 64, Bonham Strand West.

ALLEGED HOUSE-BREAKING ON THE PEAK.

S.W.B. PRIVATE ARRESTED.

According to a police report, Pte. W. Howells South Wales Borderers, was arrested on Friday, after, it is alleged, breaking into No. 183, The Peak.

It was stated that Howells was discovered in the house and turned over to the police. He is said to have gained entry by climbing a waterpipe on to the first floor, where he broke through a piece of glass and opened a window by unbolting it from the inside. Howells was subsequently taken into custody by the Military Police.

WORLD'S AILMENTS

"MORE POLITICAL AND MORAL THAN ECONOMIC."

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Rome, April 8.

The Fascist Grand Council has decided to examine Italy's position as regards the League of Nations at the next session of the Grand Council, in October.

This decision followed the adoption of a resolution approving Signor Grandi's foreign policy, urging the cancellation of reparations and war debts; the removal of trade restrictions; the revision by the League of Nations of the clauses in Peace Treaties, which remain sources of anxiety; and the abandonment of the too frequent international conferences, which raise the hopes of Nations merely to disappoint them.

The resolution contends that the World's ailments are more political and moral than economic.

He wished that they would go one better next year and do the "hat-trick."
